Early Literacy Community Asset Analysis

Effectively serving families with young children requires knowing who they are, how they live, which other community services they use, and what they need and want from your library.

Whatever size your library, in this workshop, you will learn how to:

- Investigate the assets your community offers to young families
- Identify strategic stakeholders and potential partners
- Analyze the knowledge you've gained to make your library a more valued and valuable early literacy resource

This training is part of the NYS early literacy initiative Ready to Read At New York Libraries.

Presenters:

Mary Fellows, Upper Hudson Library System & Sue Rokos, Mohawk Valley Library System

Storytime Management

Are your story times sometimes hard to manage? Would your activities be better if you weren't spending so much time managing behaviors? Learn tested techniques and fun activities for calming and managing your young participants (and their parents!) so that everyone can get the most value from the experience.

Presenter: Don Sinton, Stepping Stones Learning Center, Rochester, NY

Participants may attend only the morning session, only the afternoon session or the full day.
